WHAT IS INTERESTING? It depends on who hears it.

Babe Ruth, who hits baseballs harder than anybody else, is ill. Doctors are worried. That interests many little boys, and many grown men with the brains of little boys.

PRIME MINISTER HERRIOT, who is a Socialist and lacking in respect for accumulated capital, proposes to seize one-tenth of all large fortunes. The money thus taken becoming a perpetual loan to the government, drawing 3 per cent. interest, the principal never to be repaid.

That interests only a few Americans, those with big fortunes. But it interests them profoundly.

The Spanish influenza disease crossed the ocean to us. Financial diseases might also cross.

DOROTHY ELLINGSON, red-haired 17-year-old California dancing girl who killed her mother, is on trial and talks freely. Her case interests the lounging, dancing, bootleg whiskey drinking cabaret youth produced by the war. Red-haired Miss Ellingson threw water over her own lawyer and called him a liar. That's temperament.

JUDGE GARY says times are all right, business is good, and there is no reason why it shouldn't remain good. The recent slump followed too much speculating after the election.

HIGH FINANCE and middle class finance, ridiculously and unnecessarily frightened by La Follette's candidacy, went on a stock gambling debauch when the danger was over. The slump is the headache following that debauch.

GREAT IS THE POWER of science, which has found a way to prevent death by gas asphyxiation. Oil of red peppers is mixed with the gas, in minute inexpensive quantities. While the gas burns, you don't notice it. But if the gas is turned on unlighted or there is a leak, the pepper oil, mixing in with the air, causes violent sneezing, forcing you to rush from the house for relief. Simple and sure.

OTHER SCIENTISTS seeking to find metal alloys that will forever resist corrosion hope to produce "an automobile that will never wear out." Today's automobiles answer the description pretty well, if you keep them oiled and give them decent care.

PROFESSOR BONNEVIE of Oslo University says a man need not be so wise after all, in order to know his own father.

Paternity can be proved, the professor says, by the resemblance of a child's finger prints to those of his father.

Professor Bonnevie, who is a lady, can instantly identify the father of any young baby by the finger prints.

THAT MIGHT BE USEFUL in New York State where the law compels a man to support his illegitimate child.

It would be less useful in France. The law of Napoleon, who wanted as many babies as possible to grow up into soldiers, absolutely forbade any effort to establish paternity. Perhaps without that law the birth rate would have been higher.

THE GREAT AMERICAN SHIP SARATOGA, built to carry flying machines, has 150,000 horse power.

In all the world there are not ten power plants exceeding that amount of power that, so far as anything useful is concerned, will go to waste in that great ship.

THE SARATOGA COST nearly $50,000,000. Rather a big airship carrier for a nation that hasn't any airplanes to speak of.

Why, and where do we want to carry airplanes on shipboard? Do we expect to send them to attack other countries? What countries? Should not American flying machines be kept doing useful work in America, in peace, or protecting our territory here at home, if war must come?

TELLS OF GAY PARTY AT DIVORCE TRIAL

Mrs. Grace Conolly on witness stand at trial of Mrs. Mary E. Moore's suit for divorce against Dr. Arnold W. Moore of East Boston. She denied being too friendly with the doctor. Love notes and testimony of gay parties figure in the case.

A pair of delicately tinted stepins was produced in Probate Court today as Exhibit A in the trial of the suit of Mrs. Mary B. Moore for divorce from Dr. Arnold W. Moore of East Boston.

But the stepins were not displayed in the courtroom, the court ruling that was unnecessary and the point at issue unimportant.

Mrs. Grace Conolly, named by Mrs. Moore as co-respondent, was on the stand, she has testified yesterday that at a party at her home Mrs. Moore did a little dance in stepins, "and maybe a vest."

Mrs. Conolly's counsel produced a bag from which he removed the stepins, partly disclosing some very filmy sort of flimsy material.

"Would you say these were similar to the stepins worn on that occasion?" he asked.

20 ESCAPE $50,000 PEABODY EXPLOSION

Peabody, April 9—Two terrific explosions rocked that section of the city lying close to the Salem line today, during a fire which destroyed the Pierpont street plant of the Woelfel Embossing and Decorating Company.

The loss was $50,000.

A score of firemen narrowly escaped injury when exploding chemicals blew the roof off the two story building and forced the walls outward.

LONE WOLF SANE, EXPERTS DECLARE

James E. Walters, the "Lone Wolf," was sane when he committed his attack on women in Back Bay apartments, it was reported today to Superior Court by the alienists appointed to examine him.

The report was handed to Judge Bishop by District Attorney O'Brien and stated that the "Lone Wolf" knew full well what he was doing when he committed his alleged depredations.

The report was signed by Dr. Douglas A. Thom and Dr. Ralph M. Chambers.

Judge Bishop gave Peter C. Boris, defense counsel, until 2 p. m. to read the report and file whatever motions he cared to or proceed with the case.

Attorney Boris, despite the "sane" report by prosecution alienists, declared that he will raise the question of insanity at the trial and that defence alienists, Dr. S. X. Corre and Dr. A. H. Evans, will report Walters so insane.

SECRETARY WEEKS TO QUIT THIS MONTH

Washington, April 9 (I.N.S.)—The resignation of John W. Weeks as Secretary of War and the appointment of his successor, probably Charles H. Hilles of New York, is expected within ten days, according to seemingly authentic reports in administration circles here today.

Secretary Weeks had notified President Coolidge that he cannot continue his post, but his actual resignation is being held up until Mr. Coolidge is ready to announce his successor.

While his physicians continue to report daily improvement in Secretary Weeks' condition, he still is a "mighty sick man," it was said today. Cabinet officers and others who have called at his home have been admitted to the sick room. The doctors are understood to have

BABE RUTH BEING RUSHED TO HOSPITAL

Washington, April 9 (I.N.S.)—Pale, weak and obviously sick, Babe Ruth arrived in the capital this morning enroute to New York where he will enter a hospital to recuperate from the attack of influenza and indigestion which caused his collapse at Asheville, Tuesday.

He managed a wan smile when informed that rumors were current that he had died enroute north on the train.

"I'm sick," he said to International News Service. I'm in agony, but I'm not dead yet. My head hurts and my eyes burn something fierce."

The mighty slugger said there was little chance that he would play in the opening game or the season at New York, next Tuesday.

"I'd like to," he explained, "but

NEW DEATH THREAT IN MASK CASE ALARMS WAVERLEY NURSES

Investigation of the mysterious death of Alexander Buchanan, Canadian veteran, whose bound and gagged body was found in Waverley, took a new turn today when a death threat was received by one of the officials of the McLean Hospital.

The threat was contained in a letter postmarked Waverley, in which the recipient was told he would follow Buchanan.

Police and hospital officials refused to discuss the latest development, but news of it leaked out, creating consternation among the nurses and other employes of the institution.

A veritable reign of terror has been started, with the girls refusing to leave the hospital except in groups, and then only to pass between the institution buildings and the nurses' homes.

Evening strolls were discontinued following the discovery of the Buchanan body a short distance from the nurses' home, but since the receipt of the threat the girls have abandoned daylight walks.

DEATH THREAT IN NOTE

The letter, mailed yesterday, was sent to one of the supervisors of male nurses at the hospital.

"You will be the next," it read. "You will follow Buchanan."

The recipient immediately turned it over to the police, who began an attempt to trace the writer.

While they refuse to discuss the matter, it is known the police believe the author is be either a mentical caliber or a possible maniac who may have been the murderer of Buchanan.

At the same time the authorities are not losing sight of the fact that it might have been possible for Buchanan to have taken his own life.

Admitting many indications point to suicide, they are nevertheless carrying on their investigation in a determined effort to get to the bottom of the mystery.

Today a search was being made in Boston for a former member of the Canadian Knights, the outfit to which Buchanan belonged.

The man in question is known to have left the Canadian Legion in

The boy was committed to the custody of Sheriff Bradford until the fine is paid. He also was placed under the control of the County Juvenile Court until he reaches 21 years of age. Miss Vogel was placed under probation for a year.

The fine was promptly paid by James W. Huffman, executive clerk to the Governor.

Judge Graham told the boy he made the fine a severe one because he did not "come clean" when first

PATROLMAN SAVES JANITOR AT BLAZE

When Patrolman Thomas Burke tried the door of the Ginsburg hardware store at No. 241 Bryant street, Malden, today, he saw smoke coming into the salesroom, apparently from the cellar.

Entering with a master key, Burke proceeded to the cellar just in time to see a man topple over, unconscious from the smoke.

Burke carried the man to safety and succeeded in reviving him. He proved to be James Moore, the janitor of the building, and had been trying to beat out the fire when he was overcome. The State fire marshal has been asked to investigate the origin of the fire.

"MOVIE" DEMONSTRATION OF BUCHANAN SUICIDE THEORY

Because of the fact that the police seem to be unable to find a cause for the murder of Alexander Buchanan, there are some who believe he took his own life. Those who believe otherwise ask, "How?" This "movie film" of how it could be done tells the story:

From left to right the pictures show:
First, filling the tank of the mask with chloroform.
Second, adjusting the gag to his mouth.
Third, preparing a slip noose for the wrists, which is then laid aside.
Fourth, adjusting the mask to the head.
Fifth, the rope has now been put on the wrists and drawn tight, and the tube connection between tank and mask is made.
Sixth, working quickly, before the chloroform works, the feet are slipped through the arms above the rope.
Seventh, the poison has begun to work, and the victim is on his side, semi-conscious and unable to now save himself from the death so carefully planned.

LONE FINGER PRINT PROVES NEW CLUE IN WAVERLEY GAS MASK DEATH CASE

have reached Boston last Friday or Saturday, and the authorities are anxious to question him.

The police were also checking up on the discovery made by Officer J. Frank Grant of Belmont that two trunks were removed on April 30 from the locking house at No. 101 Pembroke street, South End, where Alexander and Charles Buchanan lived.

The police were to interrogate Paul J. Silney, a Waverley expressman, who is said to have delivered one of the trunks to Miss Christine Buchanan at McLean Hospital, and the other to Mrs. Joseph Thomas of Sabina Way, Waverley, sister and cousin, respectively, of the dead man.

Advocates of a suicide theory point to the removal of the trunks as added evidence that Alexander Buchanan planned to take his own life after cleaning up his affairs.

The Boston Evening American learned yesterday the trunks were purchased from the Starr Loan Company, No. 491 Columbus avenue, on Saturday, March 28, and were sent out empty.

Samuel Blumenberg, salesman in the store, said he sold the trunks, which were new, for $11 each to a Canadian who answered the description of Buchanan.

"The man came into the store in the morning of Saturday, March 28," said Blumenberg, "I remember it was raining. I pulled down a lot of trunks but he could not seem to make up his mind. After a time he walked out without making a decision but returned in the afternoon with another man.

"He asked me to show him the two trunks he had favored in the morning, and then said he would buy them. The price was $11 each and he offered me a Canadian money order for $10, together with cash. I refused to take the money order, and his friend cashed it for him. I remember the man who bought the trunks said he had only $1 left.

CARRIED TRUNKS AWAY.

"I then told him I would have to charge him $1 for expressage. The two men went out on the sidewalk, returning in a few minutes. They told me to hold the trunks until Tuesday. Then they decided to take them, and each shouldered a trunk and went out."

Mrs. Mary O'Leary, landlady of the Pembroke street house where Buchanan lived, said he told her the trunks were for his mother and sister. His mother, he told the landlady, had planned to return to their home in Nova Scotia in May and she needed a trunk, as did his sister at the hospital. Mrs. O'Leary said the trunks were sent by express, empty to Mrs. Buchanan and Christine.

Anna Starr, cashier of the Starr Loan Company, said she recalled when the man paid for the trunks, he said he was going to ship them to Waverley.

Failure to find the ex-soldier's watch is considered significant. Buchanan had it when he left his sister, but it was not on his person when the body was found. A careful search is being conducted, in the hope that the timepiece, when found, may indicate the exact moment that Buchanan met his death.

Thus far the finger print found on the navy gas mask, which was filled with chloroform—was strapped to the head of the victim, has been of little assistance to the authorities.

The print is not complete as it does not include all of the "whorls" as the lines at the end of the finger are known. As a result it may prove impossible to make any positive comparison, although a cursory examination is said to have indicated the print was not made by Alexander Buchanan.

State Detective Michael J. Barrett is making a minute study of the finger print through a microscope, and has refused to make any statement as to what he may have discovered thus far.

MYSTERY MAN SOUGHT.

The chief activities of the investigators center on the search for the mysterious man with the black bag, who was reported to have been seen in a number of places near the McLean Hospital Friday.

The most complete information regarding this stranger was furnished by John A. Cruikshank, a conductor on the Waltham-Watertown line, who is himself a native of Nova Scotia.

Cruikshank said the man, with a companion, boarded the car at Linden and Main streets in Waltham on Saturday. Linden street is an extension of another thoroughfare that leads directly to the vicinity of the spot where Buchanan's body was found.

According to the conductor, the second man paid the fares of both, although late, when the stranger with the bag had said he was from Nool, near Truro, Nova Scotia, and was looking for work, the other declared:

"He's not with me, conductor; I'm from New Hampshire."

Cruikshank said both men were Nova Scotians, and the man carrying the bag talked freely when he found the conductor was a Canadian veteran. He said he had served with the 85th Nova Scotia Highlanders, Buchanan's outfit, and with another regiment. He said he was looking for work in a Boston ice company's plant, and when informed by the conductor there were two hospitals in Waverley that employed a number of Nova Scotians, remarked he guessed he would stick to the ice business.

Cruikshank told the police he had occasion to lift the black bag and found it was empty.

It was learned that a former member of the 85th Nova Scotia Highlanders, left his home, at Noel several days ago for Boston.

The authorities are investigating a request to the Boston police to look for a man, an American veteran patient at the Kingsbridge Hospital, the Bronx, who left there on parole a few days ago and failed to return. He is reported to have sent a letter later to someone at the hospital, saying he was going to Boston.

A special memorial service will be held tonight for Alexander Buchanan at the United Presbyterian Church on West Broadway street, of which he was a member.

ADVANCE SUICIDE THEORY.

Friends of the dead man who attend the same church have pointed out that he was much changed by the jilting he received from Miss Jessie McKenzie, and suicide advocates believe this would establish a motive for self-destruction.

As matters stand on this, the sixth day of the gas mask mystery, developments favor both the murder and the suicide theories, with the suicide theory outweighing that of homicide.

Here are the outstanding facts that point to murder:

1—Official finding by Medical Examiner Daw of Middlesex County that Buchanan came to his death from suffocation due to the linen gag and not from chloroform fumes as first reported and that he was the victim of murder.

2—Elaborate binding and gagging of the victim and the manner in which the gas mask and cord were fastened.

3—Statement made by Buchanan that he was chloroformed and robbed in his room on Pembroke street last Christmas Eve.

4—Unanimous belief of his relatives and intimates that his history, frame of mind and religious fervor all dispute suicide.

5—Testimony of Miss Christian Buchanan, eighteen-year-old sister of the victim, a nurse at McLean Hospital, that he made an appointment to take her to the theatre Saturday night.

Facts supporting the suicide theory on the other hand are:

1—Depression suffered by Buchanan as the result of the manner in which his fiancee, Miss Jessie McKenzie, to whom he was engaged, jilted him for a theological student.

2—Marked change in Buchanan noticed by his friends.

3—Claim that the reported holdup and robbery in his room on Christmas Eve was really an unsuccessful attempt at suicide with chloroform and accounted for his failure to report the robbery to the police.

4—Fact that he was overcome by loneliness and grief on reaching his room in the South End after leaving the joyous Christmas spirit prevailing in the McDonald home in Roxbury where he helped the children drape the tree.

5—Probable remorse to think that he could not enjoy Christmas in a home of his own with a wife and that his hope of establishing a little home in Belmont would never be realized because Jessie had gone back on him.

6—Noticeable change in his behavior and health.

7—Satisfactory demonstrations by State officers that a man could adjust a gas mask and bind and gag himself in the manner in which Buchanan's body was found in the cellar excavation on the hospital grounds in Waverley.

8—Fact that he took out an insurance policy on his life and changed his bank account at Suffolk Savings Bank to a joint account with his mother.

9—Fact that he had recently become an active member of First United Presbyterian Church.

Discovery that Buchanan had been strangled by the linen gag and not by chloroform fumes gave an entirely different complexion to the case.

It was pointed out today that this development strengthened the murder theory in that if Buchanan had planned the theatrical gas mask suicide he would have used a handkerchief instead of a strip of linen so short that it scarcely reached around his head sufficiently to be tied.

Also death by strangulation was slower and more torturous, and accounts for the distorted features of the Canadian war veteran. Later medical details are to the effect that Buchan's lungs were flat and entirely free from chloroform as the gag had stopped the flow of fumes into the respiratory organs below the throat.

From the outset many were at a loss to account for Buchanan's use of a gag in addition to the chloroform-stocked gas mask if planning suicide. Buchanan's tongue was cut, probably from convulsions.

Hope Watch Will Show Death Hour of Buchanan

State and Belmont police are carefully inspecting every square foot of the extensive grounds of the McLean Hospital at Waverley, hoping to find the missing watch of Alexander Buchanan, gas mask death victim. Buchanan is known to have had the timepiece in his possession at 6:35 last Friday evening when he compared it with his sister's watch.

The police expect the watch will indicate the exact time at which Buchanan met his death.

'I'M SICK!' CRIES RUTH, HEADED FOR HOSPITAL

I don't believe I can make it.

"Gosh, how my head hurts."

The Babe did not leave the train in Washington. He stayed in his berth and talked to the International News Service representative through the curtains.

"I've been in bed almost every minute since I got aboard," he said, "and I expect to stay there till we reach New York."

HE SAID IS LIKE "INFERNO."

He said he had a good night and felt better this morning than he did last night, but several times he complained of his head hurting and the burning sensation in his eyes. He looked feverish.

Ruth was accompanied by Paul Krichell of the Yankees' staff. Krichell said that when the train reaches New York, Ruth will be taken direct to St. Vincent Hospital and put to bed until he recovers completely.

QUOTES MARK TWAIN.

The train was met here at 7:30 a. m. by a flock of telegrams from New York inquiring about Ruth's condition. Most of them were inspired by rumors that the mighty slugger had expired enroute. The Babe was good naturedly interested in them.

"What was it some fellow said about that—oh, yes, 'the rumors of my death are greatly exaggerated,'" he said.

While the doctors attribute his illness to a combined attack of flu and indigestion, the Babe himself thinks it is caused by "trying to do too much, too early."

He felt so good this Spring, he said, that "he overdid his training under the tropical sun of Florida.

"I went at it too strong, I'll know better after this. Gee, how my head hurts."

TELLS WIFE HE'S ALIVE.

Before leaving the Union station here, Ruth telegraphed Mrs. Ruth in New York. "Meet me," said his message. "The rumor that I am dead is all a lie. Love."

Those accompanying the Babe on his northward journey were at a loss to account for the rumors of his death, which had placed it at Lynchburg, Va.

"I can't account for the reports," said Krichell. "Babe was well enough last night and we tried a little pinochle. When we passed Lynchburg he was asleep.

MORE ARRESTS DUE IN SCHOOL CRUSADE

A police crusade is in full swing today against an organized gang of men and youths who for months past have been corrupting the morals of Boston school children by selling them obscene pictures and vile literature.

Five arrests on indictment warrants have already been made, while three of the alleged ring leaders of the band are being sought in Canada and New York City. These leaders are alleged to have fled from the city within the past twenty-four hours, when news of the impending action of the authorities leaked out.

The district attorney of Suffolk County, the Boston police department and the Watch and Ward Society are working together in the drive against the ring that has waxed rich off the nickels and dimes of school boys and girls.

SOLD FOR DIME.

Apparently innocent candy stores, bootblack shops and soft drink stands, located near the larger school houses in Boston have cloaked the activities of the gang. In these places a schoolboy could, for a dime, purchase a vile photograph or a bit of obscene printed matter.

The pictures, mostly post cards, and the printed literature, were in most cases imported from France, although the printed captions of the photographs and the printed matter was all in English.

For days agents of the district attorney's office have been at work on the case. Photographs and obscene stories were purchased from as many of the stands as possible.

The campaign was gotten under way some weeks ago when Headmaster Walter P. Downey and Junior Master Edward J. Connell of the English High School placed the facts in their possession before District Attorney O'Brien.

Boys at the English High School were found with the indecent literature and photographs in their possession. The boys readily told where they had purchased the stuff.

TRACED TO NORTH END.

The source of some of the printed matter was finally discovered in the North End and the Joy street police were asked to assist. Information was collected and placed before the grand jury and indictment warrants were issued shortly after.

An effort was made to observe the strictest secrecy but in some manner the news leaked and a few hours before the police started a round-up of the persons wanted, the three ring-leaders fled from Boston.

The remainder of the men and boys wanted were found and arrested. They are Max Brown, No. 88 Ellerton street, Dorchester; Michael Smith, No. 71 North Margin street and Morris Kogos of No. 17 North Russell street. The other two arrested were a boy of sixteen and a man, who were taken on the charge of being suspicious persons.

MAN ARRESTED 93 TIMES FOR BEING DRUNK

Rome, N. Y., April 9.—William Prosser, seventy, is under arrest here for the ninety-third time on a charge of drunkenness. That makes him a world champion.

Until the records of Utica, Boonville and Oneida are examined, there is no telling just how many times more Prosser has said, "Good morning, Judge," for the same reason in these places.

EDITH GOULD, AS CHILD, ABHORRED LIFE IN NEW YORK CITY HOME

LOVE OF OUTDOOR LIFE WAS INSTILLED AT LAKEWOOD

By EDITH GOULD WAINWRIGHT.
Daughter of George J. Gould and Granddaughter of Jay Gould.
CHAPTER XVI.

WHEN I was ten years old, Mamma decided to send me to school in New York City. Up to then governesses had given me private lessons at Georgian Court. My trips to the city, which I disliked, were made only for dancing lessons and children's parties.

Life in the big cities has always been distasteful to me, probably because the early days at Georgian Court and on the Scottish moors had given me an ineradicable love for the outdoors. Paved streets, tall buildings of steel and stone, and the rarity of trees and grass in the town have a jarring effect on me.

Furthermore, as a child I was dressed for comfort and exercise and the formal dress of the city does not appeal to me. So it was a blow to learn that I was to go to school in New York. My mother, always bent on making her children happy, mitigated my sorrow by saying that every week-end should be spent in Lakewood. Soon I came to live only for these Fridays to Mondays.

Too Cold for Home

Although I lived for many years, during part of the time, at least, at No. 857 Fifth avenue, I never really liked it there or thought of it as home. It was too cold and impersonal a house ever to have one feel affectionate toward it. It was on the northeast corner of the avenue and Sixty-seventh street, facing Central Park. The entrance and all the rooms—thirty of them—were formal in the extreme, even the children's apartments being too severe for genuine comfort.

There were two reception rooms and the dining-room opening off the entrance hall on the ground floor. In these were some of the rarest art treasures in the world. A broad staircase, over which hung a Boucher tapestry, led to the next floor, where one found the ball room and two more reception rooms. These contained more paintings and sculptures.

Mamma, artistic to her finger tips, was enthusiastic over every piece of art in this collection, but papa contented himself with being merely proud that he possessed them. This was the distinction in the manner in which my parents viewed these treasures.

Like a Museum

I am not going to try to describe all the art treasures in the house. Sufficient to say that I always felt as though I was in a museum when I had to sit on a $50,000 chair and go to sleep in a bed once used by Marie Antoinette. That bed! As a little girl, it used to give me nightmares of the poor Queen, dignified and unafraid, riding in the tumbril to the guillotine, while the sans culottes roared insults at her.

On the floor above the ball-room were the bedrooms of mamma and papa and their sitting rooms. Above these were the rooms of the children and governesses. The next flight led to the maids' quarters and beyond the roof garden, part of which was glass enclosed and part open to the sky, with a garden bordering it. There we played if we did not care to go to the park and there mamma would have her meals served if she spent a night in town in Summer.

The butler and footmen and the rest of the men servants had quarters in the basement, which also

SISTER AIDS WIFE IN DIVORCE SUIT

Charging desertion and failure to support, Mrs. Marie Thiffault of Cambridge (right), is suing Joseph A. Thiffault of Cambridge for divorce in Middlesex Probate Court.

She testified as to alleged cruelty, that her husband left her, and of her financial difficulties when she was deserted. She denied she deserted her husband to go on the stage.

Her sister, Miss Frances Rhalde (left), testified in her behalf in the suit.

POLICE BANISH STRIKERS' PICKETS

Strike pickets were driven away from the A. D. Howlett paint shop at No. 168 Worcester street today by uniformed policemen at the request of the Painting and Decorating Employers' Association.

James T. Templeton, secretary-treasurer of the Painters' District Council, immediately issued a statement charging that the action of the police was unwarranted.

"Our pickets were quite within their rights, and law and order were not in jeopardy," he said.

"We were peaceably patrolling the premises, and exploiting the situation to strikebreakers."

Secretary Templeton said the master painters were alarmed because the strike pickets had induced 100 strike-breakers to leave jobs and make application for union membership.

Mr. Howlett, who besides being a big contracting painter, is president of the employers' association, denied any such number of non-union workmen had been won away.

LITTLE CHANGE.

Except for the activity among the painters, there was little change today in the building trades strike situation.

Leaders of 5,000 laborers affiliated with the building trades remained uncommunicative, although it is understood they have decided whether they will strike.

There is talk of intervention by Mayor Curley, and by the State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation.

CRUCIAL DAY.

Tomorrow will be the big day in the history of the 1925 strike. For at 2 p. m. the Committee of Fourteen, representing the master builders and the union workmen, those on strike and those still at work, will make a final effort to end the dispute and restore peace.

The labor members of the general committee will meet tonight to decide upon their action in the conference.

The only other development today was a statement by officers of the Electrical Employers' Association calling the striking electricians "outlaws" because of their alleged unwillingness to allow the general committee of the Building Trades Council to commit them to any agreement.

Three Drowned in Collision

London, April 9.—A Lloyds' report from Flushing says that six members of the crew lost their lives when the Dutch Steamer Jonge Catharina was sunk in collision with the Steamer Clan Monroe, and that three men are missing. The dead have been landed at Flushing. Fifteen members of the Jonge Catharina's crew have been saved.

WIFE SCOFFS AT STILLMAN OVERTURES

Kansas City, Mo., April 9.—"Perfectly absurd," was the answer Mrs. Anne H. Stillman gave today to a reported attempt of James A. Stillman to bring about a reconciliation with his estranged wife. She was here enroute to Arizona for a vacation.

"I hadn't heard of any such proposals from Mr. Stillman," she said, when told that her husband's secretary was reported to have used overtures to her. She refused comments that the sixteen-year-old son, Alexander, she was seeking a reconciliation. The boy laughed when the report was mentioned, but made no comment.

Mrs. Stillman said that she had planned her vacation to rest from the strain of court procedure and to get away from publicity.

Asked how she would accept offers of a reconciliation, she said:

"I am not the type that can be bit over the head one minute and then give in when told to 'come kiss me, honey.'

"You asked me if reports that I had spurned the advances were correct. I would not spurn them; I am not that kind of woman that would spurn anything. I have no hard feelings, but sometimes there is such a difference in the nature of two persons that it is impossible for them to live together. Oil and water will not mix, you know."

She laughed when informed of reports that she would start writing for publication after her vacation.

"I have had some offers from a syndicate, she said, "but I have had some offers from a syndicate, she said, "but I have had some offers from a syndicate, she said, "but contained a Turkish bath for papa's use. The staircase was more ornamental than useful, for there were a "front" elevator and a "back" elevator, operated by electricity. Chaos reigned in the house if these got out of order, because we had almost forgotten how to walk up and down stairs.

How I hated to say good-bye to Gloria and Franklin Schacko who remained at Lakewood. One would think that I was going away for a year instead of only a week. Nevertheless, the prospect of going to school gave me a grown-up feeling.

School for Rich

The establishment mamma had chosen was called the Charlton School and at that time was patronized by many families with whom my mother was friendly. I learned to love the place and the girls and the teachers in the four years that followed. A few years ago it fulled and the building that housed it at Park avenue between Sixty-seventh and Sixty-eighth streets is now converted into apartments.

Later I went to Miss Spence's School, which I also learned to love as a second home. The late Miss Spence had a remarkable personality, which endeared her to all her pupils. But more of this later.

I think it is a fact that surroundings have a great deal to do with one's character. I know that at No. 857 Fifth avenue among the luxurious furnishings my parents seemed a great deal farther away from me than they did in the country. It was not that their attitude toward me changed, but the childish mind their clothes and manner and everything else about them suggested formality.

We children never had a chance to speak alone to mamma because Aunt Carrie, Madame Jourdain, or Margaret, her maid, were always with her, or else she was busy giving orders to Phillip Langford, the butler major domo, or taking a masseuse or having her hair dressed. In short, we saw mamma far less often in the city than we did in the country.

My first day at school will be the subject of the next chapter.

sion?" he asked, starting to remove the garments. Then the court stopped him and the question went unanswered.

Mrs. Conolly denied that she ever embraced Dr. Moore or acted in a familiar manner when in his company.

"Did you ever see Mrs. Moore come home drunk?" she was asked. She said she had, and that Mrs. Moore insulted her.

NOT TO HER FACE.

"Did Mrs. Moore ever accuse you of being overfriendly with her husband?" the questioner continued. "Not to my face," said the correspondent.

She explained that Mrs. Moore told Mr. Conolly and Mr. Conolly was much perturbed and "took action." She didn't say what kind.

On the day of the "drunken party, the witness said, Mrs. Moore, while more conventionally clad, went out of the house and sat in a sedan for twenty minutes with a Mr. Masterson.

"I told her," Mrs. Conolly said, concluding that phase of her testimony, "that her friends were objectionable to me and she was no longer welcome at my house."

SUIT FOLLOWS SNUBBING OF EDITH KELLY

Apparently Harmless Drink of Burgundy Leads to Court Fight

New York, April 9.—It all goes back—all the long train of bitter Gould litigation over Jay Gould's $82,000,000—to an apparently harmless little drink of sparkling red burgundy.

It was the drink that Edith Kelly Gould took on the night of November 2, 1910, aboard the Aquitania Edith Kelly had been married to Frank J. Gould but a week.

The drink, so lawyers at the Gould accounting suit asserted, caused an exuberance that was offensive to the late Edith Kingdom Gould, first wife of the late George J. Gould, who was aboard the same ship. The result was a very distinct snubbing of Edith Kelly Gould.

Frank J. Gould was offended, deeply hurt. He sulked during the rest of the transatlantic journey. But thereafter he began a bitter fight against his brother's administration of the big fortune and has ever since fought in and out of court to oust his elder brother from their posts as trustees of the father's fortune.

William Wallace, attorney for the estate of George J. Gould, in a lengthy argument at the hearing before Referee James A. O'Gorman said that the costly litigation which has split the Gould family asunder could be traced back to refusal to accept the second wife of Frank J. Gould.

Both Edith Kingdom and Edith Kelly were of the stage.

"It all goes back to Frank's personal hatreds and bitterness," said Wallace.

"It simmers down in the last analysis to nothing more or less than small personal prejudices and meannesses."

told him that any unusual exertion or any continuation of his desk work at the War Department might prove fatal. Reluctantly, after this advice, Secretary Weeks is said to have remarked:

"Well, I'll quit. The administration can get along much better without me than my family can."

Hilles is credited with a preference for the postmaster generalship rather than the War Department and this may lead to the transfer of Postmaster General New to Weeks' post.

Secretary Weeks' physicians have insisted that he leave Washington for a long rest, preferably in some quiet rural retreat. He has a Summer cottage in New Hampshire that may be utilized.

GOV. DONAHEY'S SON FINED; FREE GIRL

questioned as to the whereabouts of the Vogel girl when she had been reported missing and search for her was in progress.

The girl was charged with incorrigibility and truancy from school. She is a ward of the juvenile court. She was ordered to get back to her books this afternoon and was placed on strict probation.

If Hal becomes the central figure in any more escapades like the one just closed or his recent conviction for violation of a traffic ordinance in Columbus and his stay of three days in the Columbus city prison he will promptly be haled back into the local juvenile court and dealt with, Judge Graham told the International News Service after he had passed sentence on his youth.

HIS GIRL GOOD-BYE.

Hal and Lillian said good-bye to each other in front of a packed court room.

"Good-bye, Hal," the girl told him as the crowd gaped. "I'm sorry all this happened. I wish you the best of luck in the future."

Her girl friends crowded about her and seconded her good wishes.

The case is an outcome of an automobile ride taken by Hal and Miss Vogel on Sunday.

Governor Donahey has said he will do nothing to aid his son's defense.

The puzzle over what to do with his son that has worried Governor Donahey for months was even farther from a solution when he found the boy in whose veracity he had trusted had lied to shield himself from his last scrape. He had tried plan after plan to curb the boy and all had failed.

Hal has been sent to school and refused to study. He has been put to work, and failed to keep his job. He was appointed to the United States Naval Academy, but couldn't pass the entrance examinations.

The sons, his father thought, would hold true of West Point, where Hal would like to go. He went to classes at the Academy of Capital University for a while, but after a three-day term in city prison for speeding he lost interest even in those and hasn't been present for weeks.

SAY GOLDSTEIN HEADS "BAD CHECK" GANG

New York, April 9.—Harry Goldstein of Brooklyn, arrested here on a charge of passing a worthless check, was said by Assistant District Attorney Garrison, who will present his case to the grand jury Monday, to be the leader of a gang which has swindled merchants in many cities out of thousands of dollars' worth of goods.

Steaming out— one step in baking this new Soda Cracker

The flavor of this cracker owes much to its shape (patented). The notched sides form vent holes in the sheet of crackers as they bake. This assures through and through baking. In addition this cracker is more convenient to eat—doesn't crumble and can readily be split in two.

PERHAPS the most pleasing compliment we have had on the new Sunshine Soda Cracker comes from those who cook well. They say that they taste home-made.

Thorough steaming out has a lot to do with this. This studied and exactly timed pause between baking and packaging puts a finish on good baking. Remember how home-made bread must cool slowly and that no one wants to cut a cake hot.

This waiting, when you are baking a few million crackers, costs time and money. It takes up valuable space, even in Thousand Window Bakeries, but it does make a good cracker.

It locks the flavor in and secures the crispness and bite that good cooks smile about.

A hundred niceties like this in the* FULL GRAIN PROCESS

Within the last year, after months of trial and study, Sunshine Bakeries have perfected a way of making soda crackers better.

Better in several ways — in flavor, in texture, and in looks.

We are a little jealous of this method, a bit proud, maybe, because there are several baking innovations involved in it. The blending of the flour, the handling of the dough (something new), and in securing uniformity day in and day out.

The test of any baking process, of course, is in the cracker itself.

We honestly think that you will like this new soda cracker, which you can recognize by its special shape, even before you eat it.

Spanish Influence Is Very Evident in Society's Plans for Costume Ball

Brilliant Assembly Will Be Held In Aid of the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. in Charlestown

By Betty Alden

AGAIN THE SPANISH INFLUENCE! A troop of twenty or more young men, headliners all in the town's elect, enrolled for usher duty at the Costume Ball under the banners of Alvin Sortwell and Stephen Fairbanks, will be togged out in the gladsome raiment of picturesque Spanish dandies.

PERHAPS TO THE recent visit of Senor Ignacio Zuloaga, the Spanish artist, the all-pervading trend to things Spanish may be traced. Perhaps the airs and graces of old Spain are invoked through the handsome lures of the cinema hero, Valentino.

WHATEVER THE inspiration, Messrs. Sorw ll and F clarks and their stalwart band will be a colorful addition to the gaily vived scene, in their gleaming satins and silks. Two costume sets will be jaunty sashes and knotted silken caps, with the leaders distinguished in black and yellow, the others in black and white.

PICTURESQUE touches from the local field have been commandeered, as well. The Navy Yard Band is to play—alternating with one of Boston's best known orchestras—thus insuring a limitless fund of music. A detail of natives uniformed Marines will appear in the role of ticket-takers.

AS TO THE hostelleries—always an interesting feature of Costume Balls—there is a steadily lengthening list. Some fifty of these vantage points arranged down one side of the Copley Plaza ballroom and across the end offer Madame of the Smart Set an opportunity to dispense her usual graceful hospitality.

EVERY ONE of the dancers—excepting only the box party members—will be in costume, thus goes forth the mandate of the directing heads of the affair. Which means, of course, that the scene of the dance will be a merry unbroken melange of festival dress and color.

SMOOTHNESS of detail and arrangement is the goal of Messrs.

Photograph by Bachrach.

Miss Harriet Royce, a popular member of the youthful set, is included in the galaxy of bridal attendants for the wedding of Miss Helen Olivia Clark and John Jay Hicks Kerr on May 9. Miss Royce is one of the daughters in the Frederick Royce family of Dedham.

Army and Navy 'Y' in Charlestown to Be Given Proceeds of Affair

Sortwell, Fairbanks and their allies—one which these energetic young men are attaining with their usual consummate ease. By the way, be it known that the gilding lights are almost wholly masculine in persuasion, but there is a feminine advisory committee.

ADDED TO THESE there appears a roster of patrons — quite weighty with dignity and importance—commencing with Charles Fanning Ayer, ending with Roger Merriam and including midway among others—William C. Endicott, Edwin S. Webster, George Peabody Gardner, Edward Pickman, George S. Mumford and Joseph Grafton Minot.

THE USHER TROOP, they of the Valentino array, are Harcourt Amory, Jr., as leader, and Huntington R. Hardwick, John Stubbs, John Parkinson, John S. Parker, David Sears, Benjamin W. Estabrook, Cornelius Conway Felton, Gordon Prince and Frederic N. Burnham.

ALSO Charles Weston, I. Tucker Burr, Jr.; George von L. Meyer, Jr.; William Hunter, Charles E. Cotting, Samuel Vaughan, W. A. Parker and Joseph Woods, surely a lively troop to see that the wheels of gayety run with velvet smoothness.

THE Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. in Charlestown, is the raison d'etre for the Costume Ball, and all those concerned in its welfare and prosperity of inestimable good works among Service men are hoping ardently for a glittering harvest of dollars for the cause.

I HEAR THAT Mrs. Theodore Frothingham, Jr., feeling that her pet interest, the cabaret for the Infants's Hospital, is well started on the road to a successful finish, has gone down to Buzzard's Bay for a brief interlude before the auspicious date, May 1, arrives. Mrs. Frothingham has her young family with her.

MRS. OLIVER AMES, JR., who is this year one of the trio lending new and stunning attractions for the cabaret, is in Virginia Hot Springs, registered at the Homestead. The Sewall H. Fessendens, Mrs. Ames' parents, are with her at the resort in the high Alleghany valley.

THE FAMILY GROUP also includes Miss Louise Fessenden, Mrs. Ames's sister, and Miss Olivia Ames, who is the daughter of the Oliver Ames, of Boston and North Easton.

EN PASSANT, A VERY interesting member of Mrs. "Ollie" Ames' Boston household just now is the tiny daughter of Edward Forbes Bigelow and the late Mrs. Bigelow, who was Rose Fessenden. She was a younger sister of Mrs. Ames and youngest daughter of the Sewall Fessendens.

MRS. AMES HAS A little daughter of her own, the small Olivia, named for her father, the widely known and popular Oliver Ames, who gave up his life in the World War. The exquisite child Olivia, is the inseparable companion of the Bigelow baby, and together they make a very lively nursery for Mrs. "Ollie" to preside over.

ROCKEFELLER WILL GIVE $100,000 TO ART SCHOOL

Chicago, April 8.—A gift of $100,000 from the educational department of the Rockefeller Foundation to the proposed $1,000,000 endowment for the Chicago Industrial Art School was announced by directors of the Art Institute where the school will be established.

It also was announced that Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, Julius Rosenwald and Mrs. Howard Snydiker, Jr., have become founders of the school, each contributing $25,000.

JUDGE RULES MAN CAN TALK ABOUT HIS WIFE

New York, April 8.—A man may be personally stating opinions on his better half by fear of the particular weapon of which she shows the greatest aptitude, but he may say what he pleases about her, at least without fear of being sued in the courts for slander, according to a ruling today by A. N. Hand in Federal Court today, when he threw out the suit for $250,000 filed and discourses brought by Estelle M. Clarke against her husband, Frank C. Clarke, proprietor of Clarke's Cruises.

Manufacturer Dies

Rare Stones and Jewelry Displayed at Corner of Tremont and Bromfield

Boston's newest gem shop opened its doors today for public inspection, when Robinson & Co., Jewelers and diamond importers, welcomed the public in their new establishment, at Tremont and Bromfield streets.

The new store, possessing the characteristics of Fifth avenue shops, was opened from 1 o'clock to 4 o'clock, during which period thousands of persons visited it.

The store is elaborately equipped with the most modern display cases and fittings, richly done in mahogany, with an unusual system of lighting which affords every convenience to patrons in selecting jewelry.

This latest addition to the Robinson chain, with its souvenirs and music, proved extremely attractive and the visiting public set the seal of their approval on it.

GIRL KIDNAPED IN 1911 FINDS KIN BY RADIO

Makes Appeal When Abductor Reveals Secret on Death Bed

Philadelphia, April 8.—James McIlvain and his daughter, Mary, who was kidnaped twenty-four years ago, were reunited today, the result of a search on the daughter's part which ended when she broadcast her story from a Philadelphia radio station.

The girl was abducted by a woman in Wilmington, Del., when she was six months old. The woman, on her deathbed, in Atlantic City, disclosed to Miss McIlvain that she was not her mother, whereupon the girl started a search for her parents. The woman's name was not made public.

An uncle, Elwood McIlvain of Upland, recognized her from her radio story and arranged the reunion with her father.

She told her father she had been taken to a western city where she was brought up with every comfort and was given a liberal education. Mr. McIlvain moved to this city from Wilmington several years ago.

BORAH TURNS ON FRENCH ASSAILANT

Calls Attack Agony of One Trying to Defend Dishonesty

Washington, April 9 (Universal)—In a characteristically vigorous retort to the French editor who called him "a financial ass instead of a financial aid," Senator William E. Borah of Idaho paid his respects today to the policies which have brought the French government to its present grave crisis.

The editor of Les Nouvelles, a Paris Bourse paper, denounced Borah, along with other unnamed American Senators, in a typical effort to throw upon the United States a large part of the blame for France's financial troubles.

Borah took the lead in the Senate in demanding that the French be called upon to settle her war debt to this government.

Senator Borah's statement follows:

"I have no controversy with the editor of Les Nouvelles. His language seems to be on a level with his principles of national honor. His editorial is a kind of frantic laudation of repudiation.

"If the French government would impose taxes as other governments feel compelled to impose taxes, and if the French people would pay taxes as other peoples are compelled to pay taxes, France would not only be able to pay her debts upon reasonable terms, but would be able to avoid such conditions she is now experiencing.

"I do not see why the editor of Les Nouvelles should feel so vicious because the American taxpayer wants the money back which he loaned. His wrath will not mislead anyone—it is simply the agony of one who is trying to defend a dishonest policy."

NEW BROBE IN DEATH OF LAWRENCE MAN

Lawrence, April 9.—The body of Rosario Messina of No. 80 Common street, found dead in Pleasant Valley with three bullet wounds in his head, who was buried Wednesday, will be exhumed for a new autopsy, it was announced today by State detectives, who said they have uncovered new evidence that the wounds may not have been inflicted with a .32-calibre pistol.

TRUMPETERS WIN NEW HONORS

TRUMPETERS STAR IN W.N.A.C PARTY

Among the many interesting entertainers who put color and harmony into the anniversary party of the Boston Evening American WNAC Women's Club in the Hearst Building on Tuesday afternoon were the Clarion Trumpeters, an organization of talented young women directed by Mrs. Caroline B. Nichols, for many years a favorite on the B. F. Keith circuit with the Faddettes.

The Clarion Trumpeters gave a martial atmosphere to their part of the program. The group includes Lillian Sawyer, Ida Mauch, Eleanor Geer, Alfreda Timayenis and Helen O'Toole.

The second entertainment in the anniversary week bill of the Boston Evening American WNAC Women's Club will be given next Tuesday afternoon, at which both local and professional talent will appear. "Biddy" Rinart, manager of the Fenway Theatre, who so ably served as master of ceremonies on Tuesday, will return to the job next week. He also promises the services of a snappy jazz orchestra to liven up the program.

FREED OF MANSLAUGHTER, HELD AS DRUNKEN DRIVER

Barnstable, April 9.—The Grand Jury, now in session, has reported a no-bill on the manslaughter charge against Alexand Valli, who ran down and killed George McColley, Jr., formerly of Lawrence, Saturday night, in his automobile. He was held in $500 on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor.

THOUSANDS TRY TO BLOCK BIG FOREST FIRES

Thousands of men, firemen and volunteers, many of whom have been without sleep for the best part of the last seventy-two hours, are still fighting forest fires which have already destroyed huge tracts of valuable timber land in Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Rhode Island.

The situation in New Hampshire, with twenty fresh fires reported from various sections of the State making a total of about seventy-five burning today, continues to be the most critical in New England.

NEARLY 5,000 ACRES SWEPT.

The two biggest fires in New Hampshire, those at Deerfield and Boscawen, are reported under control, but with the fires hourly destroying valuable timber holdings, the loss in that State alone are expected to be close to $1,000,000. The fires are said to cover an area of between 4,000 and 5,000 acres.

A fire of serious proportions is reported to have started near Dublin, where there is located an exclusive Summer colony, with many valuable cottages and Summer residences.

Other New Hampshire fires reported today are at Rumney, Candia, Merrimack, where there are two; Meredith, near Lake Winnipesaukee, where there are two; Pittsfield, Lyndeboro, Hudson, New Boston, Pelham, Milton, Alton, Belmont, Bradford, Brookline, Epsom, Franklin, Grafton and Hollis, near Nashua.

RHODE ISLAND HARD HIT.

In Rhode Island early today in South County and Tiverton, a fire is roaring southward over acre after acre of woodland that contains scores of Summer camps and lodges.

The quaint little settlement of the Narragansett Indians, where each year the members of the tribe gather for their tribal ceremonies, has been wiped out, save for the meeting house.

The fire leaped the Boston State road and is burning unchecked. It swept from the southern part of Coscon Village over eight square miles of densely forested territory to the southwest. The eastward sweep was checked at the Carolina Grist Mills road but to the south the solid wall of flame is rapidly advancing.

Forest fires near Charlestown, N. H., burned over many square miles of timber land during the night and are still raging today despite the efforts of 500 men to check them. The fire fighters were led by firemen from five villages, but several houses and barns were destroyed.

COVERS WIDE AREA.

The worst part of the fire today covers a wide front in the vicinity of the Charlestown bridge. Fires were burning by the settlements of Nonquet Lodge and Quaccanaugo Lodge, but no dwellings or other buildings have been burned, early reports said.

At Springfield 300 men, women and children are assisting organized fire forces in battling the forest fire which has been burning for two days near the Massachusetts-Connecticut line in the towns of Longmeadow and East Longmeadow. Despite the efforts of the volunteers, the flames are raging furiously, having crossed the State line into Somers, Conn. The line of fire is estimated at three miles in length, a majority of it in high timber land and thick underbrush. A backfire failed to check the progress of the flames.

VON HINDENBURG PLANS "SILENT" CAMPAIGN

Berlin, April 9 (U.N.S.)—Field Marshal von Hindenburg will conduct a "silent campaign" for the presidency, it was announced by his sponsors today. All supplement to this by declaring he would not make a single speech and his only statement to voters would be a brief "Easter message." The chances of Hindenburg have been greatly improved, politicians say, by the withdrawal of Ludendorff and the action of the Communists in opposing Hindenburg and Marx, candidate of the Republicans.

DODGE $3 UP IN NEW STOCK OFFERING

$85,000,000 "Preference" Issue Is Put on Sale in the New York Exchange

New York, April 9 Trading in the new preference stock of Dodge Brothers, Inc., carrying a $7 cumulative annual dividend, 850,000 shares of which were offered by a nationwide syndicate headed by Dillon, Read & Co., today, started on the New York Stock Exchange soon after the subscription books had been opened.

The first sale was 200 shares at $101, or $1 above the subscription price.

Subsequently the stock sold up to $103 and then dropped back to $102.

The stock, which carried a bonus of one share of common for each share of preference, later sold down to $100 a share. The entire issue was oversubscribed at 11 o'clock.

JAIL FOR AUTO THIEVES IN NEW BILL

Luitweiler Demands Law Similar in Terms to That for Drunken Drivers

Representative Clarence S. Luitweiler of Newton, author of the "Drunken Drivers' Bill," filed another in the House today, providing for jail sentences for persons convicted of stealing an automobile and having a record of conviction for a felony within six years previously.

The bill was drawn by Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin and provides also that if a person is convicted of unlawful appropriation of an automobile or using a machine without authority, where he had no license to operate motor vehicles, the court would be required to give a jail sentence if the defendant had been convicted of a felony within six years.

Commenting on the bill, Registrar Goodwin said today:

"The tremendous increase in the [illegible]

Brilliant Women Not Needed to Excel Senators

[illegible] Coll[illegible], N. J., April 8—It would [illegible] extraordinarily small women to make better senators than some of the men now occupying seats in the Upper House, in the opinion of Senator James Couzens of Detroit.

"It will not be long before women will be in the Senate in large numbers," he said, "and it is up to the individual women as to how she will move [illegible]. At present she would not have to be very brainy to [illegible] than some of the men now in the Senate. I do not think of several lower women I would name one in the position than Senator [illegible]."

60 IMPORTED TO BREAK STRIKE AT WORCESTER

Master Builders Use Them to Replace Hod Carriers on Various Jobs

Worcester, April 9.—Sixty husky [illegible] were brought into the city by the master builders today and put immediately to work in place of striking hod carriers.

They were brought in over the Boston & Albany from points unknown. On arrival, they were put into closed cars and escorted to their various jobs by the police.

The strikers continued to picket the plants today, and the police continued to watch the strikers. Most of the imported strikebreakers went to work on the J. W. Bishop conduit job in Auburn.

PORTER BACKS GIRL AGAINST KLAN LEADER

Indianapolis, Ind., April 9.—Charges made recently Madge Oberholtzer made against D. C. Stephenson, former Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in Indiana and a Republican leader, were answered today out by the attendants of L. Ensminger, porter on the sleeping car in which Miss Oberholtzer said she was ill tacked.

Thomas declared that Miss Oberholtzer was not ill, and that Miss Ensminger, the stateroom next to hers, in Indianapolis Thursday night, March 26, of March 27, when Miss Oberholtzer disappeared from her home in Indianapolis. Miss Ensminger, who lives in Stephenson, an invalid, now says at the point of death from a slow poison which she took at Hammond, Ind., had left Indianapolis. Miss Ensminger came into which she took after leaving taken to her mother's home, a few blocks from the Stephenson mansion which the former Klan leader occupies.

Mrs. Mathilda Oberholtzer, mother of the girl, declared that Stephenson sought to injure her daughter on the return trip from Hammond, when it became apparent that she was seriously ill of the self-administered poison.

"Before she became unconscious eleven days ago," she said, "Madge told me she knew she had been trapped the moment she entered Stephenson's big house. He was drunk, and the two men with him were, too. They talked about taking her to Chicago. She pleaded to go home for her hat—in an excuse—but they took me right along and bundled her into a compartment on the train for Hammond."

PENOBSCOT BAR ASKS GARDNER BE DROPPED

Bangor, Me., April 9.—The Penobscot Bar Association filed in the Supreme Court here today information containing charges which request the removal as a practicing attorney of Phillips H. Gardner, well known in legal circles throughout Maine, sought by the association soon to disappeared several months ago, to answer to indictments for fraudulent practices.

HOW NEW ROAD WILL EASE JAM AT MATTAPAN

This proposed construction, approved by the legislative Committee on Highways, involves an expenditure of about $2,000,000. Its great purpose is to divert South Shore auto traffic from Mattapan square, Quincy and East Milton. Beginning at Blue Hill avenue, it would swing east beyond police station 11, and make practically a straight line to Neponset, there coming into Old Colony boulevard. It would follow Hancock street to beyond Wollaston, and then swing east into new construction, making a wide swing away from Quincy square, and coming into Quincy avenue just before the Fore River bridge.

MAN BURNED SAVING WIFE AND 5 CHILDREN

Patten, Me., April 9.—A tragedy in an isolated farming community was narrowly averted when the home of Frank Markie on the Dunn farm, three miles south of this village, caught fire from the explosion of a lamp. Markie was severely burned while rescuing his wife, a few days old child and four other small children. The house was destroyed with all belongings and farming equipment.

WIFE OF BILL HART IS SERIOUSLY ILL

PEEVED WOMAN KEEPS WHOLE TOWN IN DARKNESS

Port Leyden, N. Y., April 9.—This town has gone back to the days when there was no such thing as electricity. At night there is utter darkness, save for such inadequate lights as gas and kerosene can furnish.

Nobody can press electrically his Sunday trousers. Women have salvaged the old-fashioned curling irons, and not a wheel in a factory is turning.

All because Mrs. Louisa C. Wilson got peeved and pulled the plugs out of her power plant, when the Public Service Commission refused to renew her franchise to furnish electric power to the village, a franchise she has held for twenty years.

RELIC SHOWS ARMENIANS WERE EARLY CHRISTIANS

Montreal, April 9 (A.P.).—Archaeological discoveries which may prove Armenians were the first people officially to adopt Christianity, are reported from Erivan, Russian Armenia by the head of the American Near East Relief Mission. At a village called Echmi, on the slopes of Mt. Ararat, there has been found the head of a life-size statue of an Armenian king, bearing a crown and other insignia with the sign of the cross. Those he pointed to as indicating that the king was a Christian.

HERRIOT TURNS ON ACCUSERS IN FRANCE

Paris, April 9 (A.P.).—Premier Herriot, suddenly assuming the offensive in the Chamber of Deputies today, made sweeping charges of faulty administration of the treasury against every Government since the Armistice, blaming them for the present financial crisis.

Turning upon his accusers he took the rostrum and began a stirring speech in which he said the Government's financial measures must be passed as a unit.

"If the Chamber consents to inflation without a corresponding increase in taxes, either as a forced loan or in other manner, it will be rendering a bad service to the country and injure its economic life," he avowed.

"The Morgan loan of $100,000,000 is still untouched," said Premier Herriot. He explained he preferred holding it in reserve, not considering the present situation critical enough to warrant its use.

"I won't speak of our foreign debt," continued the Premier, "because you are aware of the complaints of the situation. You know how heavily it weighs upon our financial situation, even at times interfering with our very political liberty."

Paul-Boncourt broke loose at this point. Herriot's supporters rose and cheered, while the opposition "booed."

Deputy Marcel Cachin, Communist, asked if in the last two months 17,000,000,000 francs in French securities and currency had gone to Italy alone. Herriot refused to give the amount but said there had been a large flight of capital abroad recently.

The Premier concluded by reviewing the burden imposed upon France by the high interest on domestic and foreign loans.

"Beware of the pressure which the power of foreign money can bring upon France's policy for the future," he said. "Help to rid France of her debt, both internal and foreign."

COOLIDGE MAY MERGE BUREAUS TO ECONOMIZE

Washington, April 9.—In the furtherance of his economy program, President Coolidge has ordered a survey of all the independent offices and bureaus of the government, numbering more than forty, to ascertain whether some of them cannot be eliminated and others merged into the ten general governmental departments, it was learned today. A dozen of these small bureaus, created during war time, are said to be slated to pass out of existence.

"KIDNAPED" BABY CASE NEEDS A NEW SOLOMON

New York, April 9.—A problem approximating the fabled one which confronted King Solomon has come up in the McKenzie baby case. About the time baby Lillian McKenzie was kidnapped, Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Grofe, of Moresemere, N. J., adopted a baby girl.

The parents of the kidnapped child, Mr. and Mrs. Peter McKenzie, stated positively today that the Grofe infant is really their missing baby. They are backed up by Dr. Max Gottlieb, who attended the McKenzie child at birth. The Grofes have the support of a nurse and four other women.

HOLY THURSDAY OBSERVANCES IN CHURCHES

Large Delegation of Priests and Seminarians Attend Cathedral Ceremony

In observance of Maundy Thursday, marking the beginning of the end of the Lenten period, thousands attended services in the churches of Greater Boston today.

Special masses were sung in all Catholic churches and extra celebrations of the Holy Communion were observed in Episcopal churches.

In the Catholic churches the masses were followed by processions to the Ailtars of Repose, where the Blessed Sacrament is kept in a flower-decked shrine until the mass of Good Friday, known as the pre-sanctified mass.

In the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, Bishop Joseph A. Anderson presided at the blessing of the holy oils, which takes place annually. The Rev. W. B. Finigan was assistant; the Rev. Neil A. Cronin, deacon, and the Rev. William A. Dacey, subdeacon.

The two masters of ceremonies were the Rev. Harry M. O'Connor and the Rev. John Wall.

Following the mass the procession wound its way to the Altars of Repose.

Bishop Anderson was aided in the ceremonies by priests from St. Cecilia's parish and by members of the Cathedral Seminary faculty. Special Lenten music was sung by the Cathedral choir under the direction of the leader, Francis Burke.

Many Catholics made the pilgrimage of the seven churches today, in accordance with an ancient custom. Visits will be paid to the 225 churches in the diocese until late this evening.

Pictures Taken 30 Minutes Apart

Let me bring like changes to you

By Edna Wallace Hopper

This girl was neglecting her beauty, as millions of girls are doing. The picture at left shows that.

Then she used my White Youth Clay and Youth Cream—a single application. The picture at right shows the changes which 30 minutes brought.

I have searched the world since girlhood to find ways to such results. Those helps made me a famous beauty, won me a glorious career. They have kept my youth and beauty to a grand old age.

Now I am offering those matchless helps to all girls and women. Toilet counters everywhere supply them. A trial of any will come free if you mail the coupon to me.

My Youth Cream

Is a remarkable creation, combining many factors. It contains products of both lemon and strawberry. Also the best helps science gave me to foster and protect the skin.

It comes in two types—cold cream and vanishing. I use it as a night cream, also daytime as a powder base. Never is my skin without it. My velvet complexion shows what that cream can do. The cost is 60c per jar. Also in 35c tubes.

My Facial Youth

Is a liquid cleanser I owe to France. Great beauty experts the world over now advise this formula, but their price is too high for most women.

It contains no animal, no vegetable fat. The skin cannot absorb it. So it cleans to the depths, then departs. My Facial Youth will bring you new concessions of what a clean skin means. The cost is 75c.

White Youth Clay

A new-type clay, white, refined and dainty. Vastly different from the crude and muddy clays so many have employed.

It purges the skin of all that clogs and mars it. Removes the causes of blackheads and blemishes. Brings a rosy afterglow which amazes and delights. Combats lines and wrinkles; reduces enlarged pores.

No girl or woman can afford to omit it. It multiplies beauty. White Youth Clay costs 50c and $1.

My Hair Youth

The cause of my luxuriant hair thick and silky, finer far than 40 years ago. I have never had failing hair, dandruff or a touch of gray.

A concentrated product combining many ingredients. I apply it with an eyedropper directly to the scalp to tone and stimulate. No man or woman will omit it when they see what Hair Youth does. The cost is 50c and $1 with eyedropper.

My Face Powders

They are supreme creations. No face powders you have used can compare. Mine are exquisite. They come in two types. One a heavy, clinging, cold cream powder, in square box $1. I like that best. The other is light and fluffy, in round box, 50c.

All toilet counters supply my beauty helps. Send the coupon and I will mail you a sample of any one you choose. Also my Beauty Book.

He has been here less than two years, but during that period he has become popular with Jewish music lovers.

Many novel features have been arranged for the evening in keeping with the jubilant spirit of Passover, among which will be an enlarged choir. There will be much singing for this third "seder." A. Mollaw and M. Bernstein will read ritual excerpts and the Shai Dramatic Club of Chelsea will entertain.

Pat Surely Sets Pace for Old Dan Cupid

Metuchen, N. J., April 9 (I.N.S.)—Somewhere along the road to Elkton, Md., today was Pat Arena, owner of a taxicab stand here, and a blushing bride-to-be—perhaps.

Pat bet his taxicab business against William Eichbaum's restaurant that he, Pat, could get married within twenty-four hours without even having a future bride in mind. That was last night.

Early this morning Pat's friends learned that he had found a girl and had left to try to make good his wager. No one knew who the girl was or where she came from.

WILL CONTESTANT SAYS SHE'S "SPIRITUAL" CHILD

New York, April 9.—An effort to prove by witnesses drawn from the dancing membership of the aristocratic Colony Club that she was "spiritually" the daughter of the late Miss Caroline de Forest, will be made by Mrs. Nora Newlin Hooper, pretty divorcee, in a court contest of the de Forest will disposing of a $500,000 estate.

The elderly woman's will bequeaths the de Forest jewel collection and a $10,000 perpetual annuity to Mrs. Hooper, but the provision is cancelled in a codicil. Mrs. Hooper claims that the codicil was signed with a cross by a dying woman who did not understand her act.

BOYS UNMOVED, MOTHER FIGHTS FOR CUSTODY

Worcester, April 9.—Two small boys sat unmoved and uninterested in Probate Court today while their mother battled frantically for their custody.

The mother, Mrs. James R. Leavitt, is charged by the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children, with beating them almost daily and threatening them with death.

The boys, Lee Johnson, aged twelve, and Harold, ten, are alleged to have made serious complaint to an agent of the society, but at the conclusion of a conference with the probate judge today the latter said they had not fully satisfied him as to the truth of their claims. He continued the case until Saturday.

Mrs. Leavitt, according to an investigation conducted in North Carolina by officials of that State at request of Miss Elizabeth G. Lincoln, investigation agent for the Worcester branch of the society, was released from the North Carolina State Prison but a short time ago, after serving a sentence for shooting her husband to death.

Both youngsters have been pupils in Malvern Road School here since October. Almost from the beginning they complained to their teachers that they were being abused at home. Two weeks ago Lee told his teacher that his mother had tried to poison him and his brother that morning with a "white flour." The younger boy was seriously ill, having swallowed the "white flour."

On Thursday a sample of the "white flour" was brought to school by Lee and it was turned over to the M. S. P. C. C., examined by a chemist and was found to be quinine sulphate, the purest form of quinine and deadly if taken in large quantities.

LILLIAN GISH'S NEW TRIUMPH IN ROMOLA

Actress' Career Confirmation of Theory Early Start Responsible for Stage Success

It is a singular act that most of the great successes on the screen and on the speaking stage have been made by those who commenced as children, or those who were "caught early."

As to the screen, this applies particularly to Lillian and Dorothy Gish, both of whom began as children and learned the art by slow and careful processes. And it is doubtful if the art of acting, either for the screen or the speaking stage was ever properly learned in any other way. Hardly without exception, every actress of importance of the English and American stage had their initial experience in child roles. Among these are Ellen Terry, Maude Adams, Viola Allen, Mrs. Fiske, Annie Russell, Marjorie Rambeau, Pauline Lord, Jeanne Eagles, Fay Bainter and Emily Stevens.

It was only a few years ago that Mrs. Mary Gish, after the death of her husband, took her two blonde-haired tots to New York city and secured work for them in the old Biograph Studio. It was fortunate that the two youngsters, Lillian and Dorothy, came under the guiding hand of so masterful a director as D. W. Griffith. Out of this experience came for Lillian in particular, such triumphs as were hers in "The Birth of a Nation," "Hearts of the World," "Broken Blossoms," "Way Down East," "Orphans of the Storm," "The White Sister" and now "Romola," which is to be next week's attraction at the New Park.

Won Fame Early

Lillian Gish, who is the star of "Romola," a film play opening at the New Park next week, began her illustrious career as a child and scored a hit from the start.

WORD PUZZLES PROVE AN AID TO HEALTH

Can you imagine a person sitting up until 4 a. m. working out a crossword puzzle?

The puzzle bedlam daily in the Boston Evening American prize tournament are so interesting that readers do that very thing. In writing of an experience of this sort Mrs. Mamie Irving of Main street, Bangor, Me., says:

"I notice the puzzle for today had 13 squares. I remained up until 4 o'clock solving it. I am so tired now that I cannot stay up any longer, but I am proud of the puzzle I have worked out and I know you will think it looks nice enough for a prize.

"If I had to go without my dinner or your crossword puzzle I would gladly go without my dinner in order to work on the puzzle, so you can get some idea of what a fan I turned out to be. Your puzzles have given me lots of pleasure during many lonely days of sickness."

HELPS HER RECOVER

"Your puzzles have helped me to get well. When I came home from the hospital a few months ago I was so nervous I cried half the time. When I have one of your puzzles I become so much interested in it that I forget all about my persecution and the result is that I do not cry any more."

Beatrice Armstrong of Norfolk avenue, Roxbury, wrote:

"As this is my first answer to the puzzles, please do not think this is my first attempt. I think you have not published one puzzle that I have not tried and in many cases done, but have never till today sent in a solution.

"I have wanted for a long time to write and tell you how much I have really enjoyed your puzzles and they have helped to a good deal too, for I have learned quite a few foreign words by doing them and the words you learn in this way you are not apt to forget because you get the other fellow who, but we never see meaning first and by the time you the half be pulls trying."

MALDEN WOMEN DRIVEN OUT BY FLAMES

Two women were driven from their beds today by a fire which started in a closet at No. 294 Highland avenue, Malden.

Mrs. Mary Messenger, who leases the apartment, discovered the fire as it burst forth from the closet and invaded her bedroom. She and her daughter, Viola, had time to stop only for dressing gowns before making their escape.

Neighbors turned in an alarm and the fire was checked a little later. The damage was $2,000, most of it to the Messenger apartment, but some of it to three small stores on the ground floor.

SHEBO — The Girl Who Became a Boy — by Tiffany Wells

A Virile, Human Story of a Girl of Today

Shebo sat down and waited

The Story Thus Far

LIKE a tired gull to a ship's rigging came Barbara Brown out of the New Year's blizzard to the jewel house in Ryeneck, where J. B. Hardiman was wont to indulge his overlord fancy for youth and beauty. She stayed that night and woke to find herself mistress of the place—at a price. Rather than pay the price, Barbara, one chill night, stole the gardener's clothes, fled from the house of tribulations and found herself on the high road. She started South in a side door Pullman.

WITHIN the body at once stripped to the waist, and soon were spluttering over a dishpan of water. In the foreground stood a hairy monster of a man. Barbara, with horrified eyes, watched him as he dashed cupped handfuls of water against his chest.

One could, thought Barbara, carry the business of being a woman too far.

She kept a respectful distance between her squeamish self and this overdone male. She started for the other end of the car. Here, too, she was repelled.

No use talking, she'd have to become a man among men by easy stages.

From the long top pole of the shed hung one-half of the most pink carcass of a pig. A large and jovial negro stood by fascinating his audience with resounding slaps dealt on the defenseless depressed smooth flanks with the palm of his hand, to the rhythm of his recital.

"Dere's a wagon goin' down the pike like a fish makin' fo' deep water. An' so on an' on mah lady friend an' we, we sputtered away, rolls into Pee mud Ti Zoo-see an' the Strangler goin' to th'

ANOTHER FISH CHAT.

There was little change in today's fish prices from last week.

Cod 10c, scallops bulk 20c, [illegible] Oysters 25c, steak cod 15c, [illegible] haddie 15c, fresh crab meat 45c, fresh crab meat flakes 35c, [illegible] lobsters 32c, large 36c, [illegible] 42-46c, sea scallops 70c pint, shrimp meat 65c pound, clams 25c quart, Pocahantas oysters 20c pint, large 45c pint fresh salmon 45c to 50c, boiled salmon 30-35c. Large smelts 35c, [illegible] mackerel 22c, butterfish 25c, pack shad 45c, roe shad 65c, [illegible] pair $1.30, smoked fillets [illegible]

I have some rather simple recipes for you today, but I am sure you will find them quite appetizing.

RECIPE NO. 1085.

BAKED HALIBUT FILLETS.

2 slices halibut,
1 teaspoon salt,
¼ teaspoon pepper,
1 tablespoon sugar,
2 medium sized onions,
3 teaspoons catsup,
8 lemon slices,
4 teaspoons butter,
Cold water.

Select two slices of halibut cut about ½ inch thick. Remove the bones, leaving eight fillets. Wash and dry thoroughly and place in a greased baking pan. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and sugar. Place over each piece of fish 1 thin slice of onion, 1 teaspoon of catsup, 1 thin slice of lemon, and ½ teaspoon of butter. Pour a little cold water in the pan, but do not let it cover the fish. Bake for about 30 minutes in a fairly hot oven. Baste frequently with liquor in the pan, adding more hot water if needed. Do not let it boil entirely dry though it should evaporate partially. Remove to a hot platter, pour the liquor over all, garnish with parsley. Any filleted white fish may be prepared in this way. Small fish may be used whole and cooked in a similar manner.

RECIPE NO. 1088.

CODFISH IN TOMATO SAUCE

1 pound salt codfish,
1 quart stewed tomatoes,
2 medium sized onions,
2 whole cloves,
½ teaspoon celery salt,
½ teaspoon salt,
¼ teaspoon pepper,
2 tablespoons butter or margarine,
4 tablespoons flour.

Cover the fish with boiling water and cook until tender; drain and separate into small pieces. Combine the tomatoes, the onions sliced fine and browned, the cloves and the celery salt. Cook 10 minutes, then strain. Melt the butter, add the flour gradually, stirring constantly, and cook until the mixture bubbles. Add the strained tomatoes gradually and cook until the sauce is of a smooth consistency. Season with salt and pepper. Add the codfish and serve on slices of buttered toast.

RECIPE NO. 1086.

BAKED FINNAN HADDIE.

1 finnan haddie,
1 pint top milk,
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs,
Parsley.

Soak the fish in cold water to cover for at least half an hour. Then lay it open in a greased dripping pan, skin side down. Cover with topmilk, using about 1 pint for a large fish; sprinkle the bread crumbs over all and bake in a fairly hot oven, until a rich brown, about 20 minutes. Lift the fish onto a hot platter, pour the sauce around and sprinkle finely minced parsley over it.

RECIPE NO. 1057.

COD CUTLETS.

1½ to 4-pound cod,
3½ teaspoon salt,
1 cup fine bread crumbs,
1 tablespoon minced parsley,
⅛ teaspoon black pepper,
2-3 cups milk,
Butter or other fat,
Lemon slices,
3 hard cooked eggs.

Remove the head and tail from the fish and cut into pieces about 2½ inches thick. Wipe carefully with a wet cloth. Lift 3 tablespoons of salt into the fish. Mix together the bread crumbs, minced parsley, pepper, the half teaspoon of salt and one cup of milk. Rub the mixture over the pieces of fish, making a layer ¼ inch thick on each piece. Place ½ teaspoon of fat on top of each piece of fish. Put the rest of the milk in the bottom of a greased kettle and place the fish in it. Cover and allow the fish to simmer very slowly for 15 minutes. When cooked, lift out into a hot platter. Garnish with slices of lemon and the hard cooked eggs cut in halves or quarters lengthwise. Serve with the gravy in the pan.

RECIPE NO. 1089.

HADDIE, CHEESE AND POTATOES.

2 cups shredded cooked haddock,
3 cups cold cooked potatoes,
1½ teaspoons salt,
⅛ teaspoon pepper,
1 pint milk,
2 tablespoons butter or margarine,
2 tablespoons flour,
½ cup cheese,
½ teaspoon paprika.

Combine the shredded haddock and cold potatoes cut into [illegible] pieces. Make a white sauce by melting the butter and [illegible] the flour. Cook until [illegible] add the milk and [illegible] Cook until [illegible] the cheese and add [illegible] small pieces and cook until the cheese is melted. Add salt, pepper, and paprika. Mix with the haddock and potatoes. Put into a buttered shallow baking dish and bake in a hot oven until it is browned.

ON THE AIR

There were plenty of good programs on tap for the [illegible] night. It was a good night for radio. KDKA came in [illegible] volume that I could hear [illegible] my aerial disconnected. The static was at a low level, and interference between stations seemed at a minimum.

---

WEEI's feature appeared to be the concert by the Grace Safety Razor Band. This is a fine band and comes good over the radio. During the first part of the evening I was rather disappointed at the poor luck I had in getting the band concert from Washington. But with such a fine concert as presented by the Edison group, there was every reason to be thankful. The woman who played the violin solos on this program is to be especially commended for her fine work. It was great!

---

At nine thirty I ran into WGN at Chicago, broadcasting a concert by their own group. The reception was so clear that I could help stopping long enough at that place on the dial to see what station it was. Three Chicago stations now serve credit for mentioning their call letters so frequently.

---

McElnelly's Singing Orchestra was again on tap from WBZ. This team of musicians is indeed one of the best features on WBZ's programs. They are not only different from the average dance orchestra, but I am told a much bigger one than you ordinarily run across. WBZ seems to come in better with their dance music than any other type of program.

Two in a row for Moe. He socked his jack on Care Free yesterday and copped all the mazuma. This one paid $9.78 to $1 in the morning line, $12.46 on the crosstown line and three to two on the finish line, which is not so bad. Watch him try for his third straight today with a baby that handsome Jack Kavanagh has been saving up for. Bank roll is $18,197.20.

Spring cleaning

UNSEEN—your home's worst enemies—disease germs, infection germs, decay germs. The true housewife goes after those invisible enemies, makes her kitchen and bathroom, closets and cellar, floors and walls, germascopically clean—as clean as they look.

Soap, water and elbow grease can't do all that. You need Sylpho-Nathol too. 3 or 4 teaspoonfuls in every quart of cleaning water makes home sweet and safe. Keep a bottle handy. 3 sizes, 15c, 35c, 65c. Ask your dealer for this household friend. The genuine carries the black-banded yellow label

Yes—you rinse instead of rub the clothes clean.

This new kind of soap loosens all the dirt—works for you—leaves you only the rinsing . . .

NOW in a million homes washday has lost its terrors. In these houses light-hearted women turn to dainty tasks or delicious idleness while the wonderful new kind of laundry soap does their washing for them.

With all the hard work of standing over the tubs gone, washday is shorter, cheerier, easier. Earlier than ever heaps of snowy, sweet-smelling linen are waiting—ready to be put away.

For all the old hard work of rubbing and rubbing to get soap through the fibres of their clothes these women just substitute Rinso granules dissolved in boiling water. At once the wash water is full of more good cleansing power than ever before.

The satiny lather penetrates the closest weaves, gently loosens and floats out the dirt. Only the most stubborn spots may require a little light rubbing with dry Rinso between the hands. Your work on washday becomes just the lighter work of rinsing.

And how fresh and clean the rinsing leaves the clothes—the colors bright and new, white things snowy and fragrant.

"Saves me so much time with the children's little ginghams," wrote one mother. "Now I can let John and Dorothy play freely without eternally nagging about keeping their clothes neat. If they get dirty—never mind. Rinso is so quick and easy that I no longer worry."

Use Rinso the way you like best to wash, for soaking or boiling—whatever your method, you will find Rinso does the hard work for you. It is perfect for washing machines. Twenty-two leading makers of washing machines recommend it.

Rinso is not only wonderful for the weekly wash. Thousands of women have written us how quick it is for washing dishes, porcelain sinks and bathtubs, floors and linoleums. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Get the Big New Package or the regular size from your grocer today

For the best results—
You dissolve Rinso in boiling water to release all of its wonderful cleansing power. Use enough to get big, lasting suds.

Already over a million packages are selling every week

MEDBURY SAYS

By John P. Medbury

SEVERAL cities have started a war on "petting." A man can no longer stand in a doorway and get his kiss in the dark.

THERE'S a time and place for everything. If a fellow wants to spoon with his girl he should take her to a moving picture.

THIS law says he's got to stop making love to his sweetheart on the street. He sets a bad example for the policeman.

IF A cop sees you hug your girl it makes him want to go right into your kitchen and do the same thing with your cook.

THE cops have orders to arrest every couple that they catch spooning. From now on, many a man will kiss his girl good night in jail.

THEY'LL do their joy-riding in the patrol wagon.

THE only ones who are allowed to spoon in public are married couples, and they don't want to.

A MARRIED man very seldom kisses his wife in private, let alone in public.

STILL, it's nice for him to know that if he ever should want to hug his wife, the police department wouldn't interfere.

IT'S a great feeling of liberty to know that he could kiss her without having to apply for a permit.

SUMMER is coming on and the city says that couples may stroll in the park, but they mustn't spoon. That's silly. What do the officials think a couple go in the park for?

THEY don't sit down on a bench to watch the squirrels or look at the flowers.

A FELLOW doesn't take his arm along just to have something to hang his coat over.

IF HE just wanted to talk to his girl he could telephone her.

IF A fellow really loves a girl he'll hold her hand and kiss her in spite of the police department.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy — If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young — to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion — dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a billous look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent. of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. Their bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

Bobby Sees a Little Silk Spinner

By Foxy Grandpa.

RIGHT in the corner of our porch she was working—and how busy she was, that little spider who had decided to make her home with us.

"She's going to have a fine time tested home," said Bobby, while he watched the web increasing in size as she ran back and forth making the spokes of her silken wheel.

"That's a strange thing, Bobby," said I. "All other insects which make webs, build them for protection against their enemies.

"Spiders build their webs—not a protection for themselves, but to entice other insects into the snare, so that the spiders can eat them up."

"Like a trap," said Bobby.

"Too lazy to go hunting for their food," said Bunny. "Have to wait until it comes to them."

"Foxy Grandpa," said Bobby, "isn't it wonderful how that stuff to make the web come right out of the spider's mouth?"

"That's where you're wrong," I said.

"Why, Foxy Grandpa!" said Bobby.

"I'll tell you," I said. "The silk does not come out of the spider's mouth. Now look closely. At the end of the spider's body are little organs called 'spinnerets.'"

"Spinnerets" repeated Bobby. "Sounds like a musical instrument."

"Out of these little spinnerets at the back of the spider's body comes a gluey, sticky fluid. The spider touches a place to which she wishes to attach her web—and comes sticky gum. She pulls a little gum which, as soon as it comes dries and drags behind her a thread. As she runs back and forth making the spokes of her silken wheel, this thread is drawn out and dries, turns into silk."

"Why," said Bobby, shaking his head to indicate that he couldn't see clearly.

"And the wonderful thing of it is," I continued, "that this thread is the strongest thing I know. I'll tell you why. Evidently the spider believes the old saying that in there is strength. For instance, a strand of silk which you could not break is not a single strand. It is made of fine strands twisted together like a rope."

"How does she do that?" asked Bobby.

"In this way," I explained. "When the glue comes from her body, it does not come in one stream—it comes from many tiny holes in the spinneret—but comes out all at the same moment. That is the trick. That slender silken thread which you see will hold a much heavier weight than you would imagine."

Just then the little spider dropped to drop down to the lower part of her web, as she had made the spokes and dropped down like a sailor on a rope.

"Look at that!" exclaimed Bobby. "It held her weight!"

"Very convenient," muttered Bunny, "not only to carry your web building materials with you, but a life-line, too."

FAMILY CHATTER

"Junior, if you don't feel well enough to go to school then you don't feel well enough to get up out of bed."

"Mom, I'm hungry. Will you buy me a stick of peppermint candy if I promise not to ask any more questions?"

"Young man, I want you to know that if you spend all of this you will have to go penniless until your next allowance is due. I'm not going to have any son of mine called a spendthrift."

"Do you think that I think that woman across the street dyes her hair. Last year it was getting gray and now all over she is black as jet."

"What a temper you have, young lady. Believe me there's no such carrying-on when your Jimmie is here. Then you're as sweet as sugar. He ought to know a thing or two."

SHORT STORY

A motor car rested wildly out of line at the lights crossing. The driver was soon to couple over the wheel. A traffic cop jumped on the running board and reached the driver's neck and seemed about to show him some sort of rushing proposition. The automobile man turned with an indignant look to the officer. When his left fist swung—it continued over and over a few times in his face.

Then looked as if a war was going before and around the street car was coming to see if a car was coming to see who caused the street to be so crowded.

TRADING DULL IN NEW YORK

Trading was dull in the New York pre-holiday market. The initial transaction in the new Dodge Bros. preference stock took place at 103, with the issue subsequently moving in to 103½ and then falling back to 103⅛. Maxwell "A" jumped 1⅝ points to a new high at 98¾.

Liquidation of speculative accounts and professional selling later intensified weakness, and losses of 1 or 2 points were scattered throughout the list.

Disappointment over the reaction of the new Dodge stock, conflicting character of steel trade reports, another drop in grain prices and the continued French political situation all contributed to the sagging tendency.

Continued heavy selling depressed Pennsylvania to a new low at 42½ and Northwestern fell 1¾ points to 49¾.

Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis, normally inactive, broke 8 points.

Several weak spots developed among the specialties. Savage Arms falling 2¼ points and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe and General Electric 2¼ points each. Call money renewed at 4 per cent.

Hood Rubber was up a point at 56 in Boston Stock Exchange trading. Prices were mostly changed for fractions only on the eve of the Good Friday holiday. Gains and losses were very nearly evenly divided.

Frederick J. Haynes, Esq., President of Dodge Brothers, Inc., writes as follows:

BUSINESS

Dodge Brothers, Inc., has been incorporated under the laws of Maryland to own the business and all of the assets (excepting $14,000,000 cash) of Dodge Brothers, a Michigan Corporation, the third largest manufacturer of automobiles in the world. From 1914, when 249 cars were sold, to March 31, 1925, sales have aggregated 1,286,793 cars for a total amount (for cars and parts) of $1,105,027,599. In comparison with this sales volume, loss from bad debts has amounted to $32,141, sales of cars by the factory being for cash only. Distribution is effected by more than 5,700 sales and service representatives throughout the world, of which 4,778 are in the United States and Canada. Advertising expenditures, in addition to amounts expended directly by dealers, have totalled more than $12,000,000. The policy of Dodge Brothers from the beginning has been to produce a car of superior quality, of stable design, for a low price. Records indicate that approximately 90% of all cars manufactured to date are still in service.

EARNINGS

The business has never had an unprofitable year. Operating results for the six years ended December 31, 1924, as certified by Messrs. Haskins & Sells, have been as follows:

| | No. of Cars Sold | Net Sales | Net Earnings before deducting Federal Income Taxes |

Net earnings, before deducting Federal income taxes, for the quarter ended March 31, 1925, amounted to $6,291,544 (not including $664,633 profit from sale of idle real estate). These earnings were 177% of net income for the first quarter of 1924 and exceeded by approximately 40% the earnings of the corresponding period of any year since 1920.

Net earnings for the year ended December 31, 1924, as shown above, and after making allowance for interest on $75,000,000 6% Sinking Fund Gold Debentures shortly to be outstanding and Federal income taxes at present rates, were $13,582,720, or more than 2½ times the annual dividend requirements of $5,950,000 on this Preference Stock.

Earnings for the year ended December 31, 1924, adjusted to the basis of the capitalization to be existing on issue of this stock, were equivalent to $3.80 per share of total common stock to be then outstanding and for the quarter ended March 31, 1925, were at the annual rate of more than $6.00 per share.

By B. C. Forbes

President Coolidge speaking:

"Establishment of the best working conditions, a proper limitation of hours of labor, the prohibition of improper demands upon the strength and the health of women and children—all these are parts of a truly intelligent business and social program which have failed of final justification."

Railway managers, railroad directors and certain other employers, how does your working year run seven days in the week and 365 days in a year square with this "truly intelligent business and social program"?

President Coolidge speaking:

"Modern business with its great combinations and great aggregations of both capital and employes has necessarily brought many new problems for solution in our effort to work out a righteous human relationship. These new conditions made necessary new rules of conduct. Many of these have already become well established and are believed to have been productive of good. But there still exists a considerable area, sometimes designated as a twilight zone, in which the proper standard of action is as yet undetermined."

Railway managers, railroad directors and certain other employers, how does your working year run seven days in the week and 365 days in the year measure up to "a righteous human relationship"?

* * *

President Coolidge speaking:

"The government necessarily looks to the management of industry as mainly responsible for the conduct of industry."

Railway managers, railroad directors and certain other employers, how does your working year run seven days in the week and 365 days in the year fulfill such responsibility in "management of industry"?

* * *

President Coolidge, you attend church and are in favor of others attending church. Do you commend or condemn railway managers, railroad directors and certain other employers who, by working their men seven days a week and every week of the year, prevent these citizens from attending church?

Railway managers, railroad directors and other employers guilty of working men 365 days a year, what would you think of children guilty of playing if you worked every day, every Sunday, every holiday, every day of the year and every day of every year without ceasing as much as one whole day to them?

By what process of reasoning do you reconcile the conclusion that it is not in the slightest degree unfair to condemn the wives and children of you workers as such inhuman un-American treatment?

One million five hundred thousand shares of class "A" common.

Five million shares of class "B" common stock.

The "A" and "B" common stock are identical in all respects except that the holders of class "B" common stock will have exclusive voting power. An issue of 1,032,000 additional "A" common shares has been authorized to provide for conversion of these 6 per cent. sinking fund gold debentures.

Flotation of the new Dodge securities is the largest single piece of industrial financing in the history of American banking. The bankers interested have stated that the issues of Dodge securities, totalling $160,000,000 will comprise all the public financing of the company.

NO UNPROFITABLE YEAR.

Advance inquiries for the new Dodge Brothers securities, the bankers declared today, came from all parts of the country as well as from abroad. Clarence Dillon, head of Dillon, Read & Co., stated that in all his experience he never had expressed an equal demand for a new issue prior to its offering.

The bankers in announcing the offering of the preference shares, point out that the business of Dodge Brothers, Inc., has never had an unprofitable year. Net income for 1924 of $13,587,928 equalled two and one-fourth times the annual dividend requirements on the preference stock and was equal to $2.59 a share on all the common stock to be outstanding.

GOOD YEAR FOR BUSINESS HERE, SAYS SCHWAB

By FRANK H. METCALF

Financial Editor.

America's leading business men, from Judge Gary down, appear pretty well agreed that 1925 is to be a pretty good sort of a year.

Charles M. Schwab's statement is particularly interesting. After noting that March was the "biggest month" Bethlehem Steel had had in two years, Chas. M. Schwab years, he declares:

"If I can read aright, I read a good year ahead for business—not a 'boom' year, but a good year for business men."

P. J. Croghan, head of the editorial division of the U. S. Department of Commerce, writes me:

"I am certainly very sorry that there are many ways in which we can show you our appreciation for your splendid co-operation in providing such a helpful hand in promoting American trade.

"It is unfortunate that our only methods of payment are, first, the 'thank you' kind, and the other, the furnishing of commercial news of a type which will interest you and your readers. We are doing our very best in both directions, and we are certainly under obligations to you.

"In fact, it was as a result of a suggestion from you that we were able to put out the weekly cable survey in a form which would attract editors generally. We have not forgotten your very constructive suggestion in this respect, and we are willing to help you in any way within our power."

The $2 bill is undoubtedly the least popular piece of American currency. I recently mentioned in this column the complaint of a New York visitor that he found more $2 bills in circulation in Boston than anywhere else in the country. The objection, based largely on superstition, is voiced by a surprisingly large number of bankers and brokers.

I am told it is a common practice for recipients of a $2 bill to hand one corner with the idea that they are averting bad luck by so doing. The popular notion is said to be coming to the U. S. Treasury "lame duck," whence they cannot be again put in circulation, is said to be a powerful reason for the desire expressed at Washington for their abolition.

How to Strengthen Boston's Helping Hand

Modified Community Chest Plan Recommended by Committee for Support of City's Philanthropic Agencies

Cities and towns and rural communities throughout New England will find much to interest the New England people in the report just given to the public by a representative committee of Boston citizens which has been studying ways and means of enabling the charitable institutions the better to serve the beneficent purposes for which they were organized and are supported.

A preliminary report by the same committee appeared last Autumn. It contained a statistical survey of 255 charitable enterprises in Boston—social agencies is the definition sanctioned by the committee. According to this survey, these 255 agencies are spending more than $15,000,000 a year; half of this amount is given by one per cent. of the total number of contributors. More than half of the contributors give only a little more than three per cent. of the total subscribed to support these charities. And most important of all the survey disclosed that twenty-one per cent. of the 255 agencies investigated are today facing a deficit.

Fronting these agencies today, therefore, is the twofold question of meeting present needs and providing for future needs—of existence, if you please, and expansion. As a result of long and careful study of all the available facts, the committee has come to the unanimous conclusion that a plan of co-operative contribution will establish these agencies on a firm foundation and expand their field of endeavor. This cannot be done by the old system under which they have developed—the system of indiscriminate competition in solicitation of the individual giver. Boston is growing. The responsibilities of Bostonians are increasing. To shoulder these better organization is essential.

Instead of recommending outright the so-called Community Chest plan for the support of Boston's philanthropic agencies the committee prefers its own modification of this plan—a modification intended to embody the best features of the Community Chest plans of other cities, and to meet Boston's own peculiar situation.

Denver started the Community Chest in 1887. It spread to Elmira in 1910 and to Cleveland in 1913. Since then its growth has been rapid. Fifty per cent. of the cities of the United States having a population of more than 20,000 maintain Community Chests today. This includes eight of the twelve largest cities in the country and the following fourteen New England cities: Worcester, New Haven, Bridgeport, Springfield, New Bedford, Brockton, Holyoke, New Britain, Northampton, Lowell, Bristol, Attleboro, Hartford and Rockland.

To the New England public in general and to the people of Boston in particular Boston, after all, is only a neighborhood—the largest in all New England. You have only to quicken in the hearts of Bostonians the spirit of neighborliness, help them to form early in their lives the habit of neighborliness, give them the organization to solve their neighborhood problems that every well-ordered neighborhood deserves, and you will find them glad to lend a hand to the weak, to help in the care of the sick and the afflicted, in the guidance of the young and in giving a goal of life to the wayward.

This is the charity of which the Bible tells us—it is the charity of the neighborhood, a neighborhood service in which the fortunate many have and should take their own part. One way to do that in Boston is outlined in the report which Boston's representative committee has just submitted to the public for study and final judgment.

Read the report before attempting to pass judgment on the soundness of the committee's conclusions. Begin now to form the habit of neighborliness. Because the good neighbor is generally a good citizen.

New Veterans' Hospital

Every Aid Should Be Given General Hines in His Careful Selection of the Site in Greater Boston

Thanks to the common sense of Major-General Frank T. Hines, Director of the United States Veterans' Bureau, Greater Boston is to be given a new veterans' hospital before the lease of the West Roxbury Hospital expires in June, 1926. Instead of transferring its patients to Northampton, they are to be cared for in a new hospital owned by the government, and ... ained by the government within the limits of what may be ... led the Greater Boston neighborhood.

This is the best of good news for the disabled service men of ... entire community. It assures not only those already rec... ing hospital treatment, but also those who may need it in the future, a hospital within easy distance of their homes, their families, their comrades and their friends. It assures the most expert treatment because the new hospital will be able to command the assistance of the best physicians and surgeons to be found in Greater Boston and no better can be found in any other city in the United States.

Several sites for the new hospital have already been offered. Mayor Curley suggests Long Island in Boston Harbor, and offers it for sale to the Federal government for $1,250,000. General Clarence R. Edwards has suggested the availability of the beautiful Lotta Crabtree estate at Squantum. Doubtless other sites will be offered within the next few weeks. The more the better—for the best available site will be none too good for the new hospital which will minister to the needs of Uncle Sam's disabled defenders in and about the great geographical gateway to all New England, the vast community that is the most thickly settled neighborhood in this corner of the country.

Before going ahead, however, Director Hines intends to be sure that he is right. He proposes to make haste slowly in the selection of a site. He will be influenced only by those considerations which govern the care of the disabled veterans.

Accessibility would seem to top the list of these.

Clearly the selection of a site calls for the careful, thorough and impartial investigation of every available site. Public sentiment will support such an investigation. Every facility should be offered to General Hines to make it at his earliest convenience.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By Helen Rowland

LOVE is a funny, whimsical thing—and so coy!

* * *

You go seeking and seeking it, until you give up hope of ever finding it. And then, just as you have packed away your dreams and decide to become a "cynic!" it sneaks up behind you, and tags you "IT!"

Helen Rowland

You chase it and chase it, half way around the world, and like the rainbow, it recedes mockingly before you. Then, just as you fling away your illusions, give up the pursuit, and say "Never again!"—you discover love, there at your feet, for the taking.

* * *

You look into one pair of eyes after another, hoping to see the Shining Vision, only to meet folly or dalliance or misunderstanding—some of love's "substitutes," and "cheaper grades." Then, you close your eyes wearily—and behold, when you open them again, Love is gazing at you, through the mist in somebody's eyes!

* * *

You go jigging about, from dinner-dance to midnight party, from foxdance to week-end party, hoping secretly to meet just "the bright particular He," who will waltz you away into Paradise. And he, you go down to the office some morning, and discover that he has been sitting right beside you at the next desk, all the time!

* * *

You wander all over the face of the earth—only to find that love was waiting for you, "just around the corner."

* * *

You weave beautiful dreams and build castles in the air and bungalows in Spain, with a Prince or Princess Charming always somewhere in the foreground.

* * *

And, by, just as you have decided to STOP "kidding yourself," and to be wise and philosophical, or cold and cynical, or hard and practical, you suddenly see all your airy visions embodied and materialized in some commonplace human being whom you never suspected of being anything more than a platonic friend—or "the man next door"—or "the girl across the street."

* * *

That's Love's little joke. Just as long as you go looking for it, and pursuing it, you will never find much except "false alarms," and "seconds" and imitations.

* * *

Falling in love is like stepping into an open cellar-door, or running the car into a telegraph pole—something that just "happens" to you, when you AREN'T looking for it.

* * *

REAL Love, like Inspiration or April weather, or Summer colds, is always a SURPRISE!

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

OH, you, who sit upon the heights that were so bravely scaled through stress of weary days and nights when lesser men had failed; oh, you serene, triumphant souls that fearless marched along to win your way to lofty goals with hearts attuned to song, take now the homage which we pay; we, who shall never tread the sun-bright summits of the way where your sure feet have sped. Take all of awe and longing blent that at your shrine we spill, take youth's transcendent coin we spent, take all our ardent will. Let these like fragrant incense rise about your lofty throne, and add to splendid destinies the dreams that were our own. For, though with you we shall not win the peaks that once we sought, we are, in our poor way akin to your high deed and thought.

VIOLENCE A GESTURE OF IMPOTENCE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

VIOLENCE is the gesture of Impotence. Brutality is the outward sign of inward Cowardice.

Loud talk indicates lack of conviction.

The persecutor is not quite sure of himself. It's the half-doubt lights the fagot.

When the boy passes the graveyard at night he whistles, because he is afraid of being afraid. It is the same with all who vociferate.

Only those who believe with their whole hearts can keep still.

The screaming reformers do not believe their cause—wholly.

"Defenders of the Faith!" Ludicrous title! For real faith needs no defence. It is a defence.

You don't need to stand up for the Truth and to fight for it, and to preserve it against the enemy. When you talk that way it shows you don't understand the quality of Truth.

Truth is the one indestructible, evergreen, eternally persistent thing on earth.

All we have to do is to See it, to Believe in it to Adjust our lives, thought and speech to it, and wait. By and by it always wins.

Hence genuine believers in the Truth do not "strive nor cry, neither is their voice heard in the street." They are quiet, calm, glad. They have hold of the one thing that cannot fail.

They lean against the pillars of the universe.

The Infinite flows through them, and they smile at the contortions of the Finite.

Whoever is Sure is undisturbed.

All Fret, Worry, Apprehension and Morbidity arise from Uncertainty. Those who fight are not quite sure.

Only those who are sure can afford to turn the other cheek.

Only the Sure can afford to forgive their enemies.

Few reach the dizzy heights of Jesus, who saw the Truth so clearly, and believed so utterly in its triumph, that He refused to struggle for it.

The most amazing thing about Him was His leisureliness.

So true it is that "he that believeth shall not make haste."

Most of us have only caught up with Joshua; we are miles from Jesus.

We juggle His texts, but have no idea of His vast, calm spirit.

Let us find the Truth, even if it be only the Truth about wood, or metal, or mathematics, just any little piece of the Truth, and believe it, and adjust ourselves to it, and be happy; for out of Truth flows Peace.

CHEMICAL MAGIC WITH SUNBEAMS

By Garrett P. Serviss

Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest

IN one of H. G. Wells' romances of the future we are told of a synthetic food invented by the chemists to relieve nature of the duty of feeding mankind by her old-fashioned processes.

The picture that he draws of life in that "coming time" is not cheerful, though subtly alluring. It possesses rather the fascination of horror.

But if the chemists ever should succeed in furnishing meat and vegetables from our markets and tables and substituting for them condensed and concentrated alimentary essences and some of them more than half hint that they will do eventually, the result upon human society may be less repellant than it appears in Mr. Wells' romance.

At the last meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science there was a suggestive discussion of the possibility of chemistry's attacking the problem by way of the light waves (i. e., the energy emission from the sun).

To make the sun our direct food purveyor by means of its beams—think of that! We should not drink the sunbeams, to be sure, as we drink water or breathe air, but nevertheless we should eliminate nature's slow-moving middlemen, the vegetable leaves, with their imperfect machinery for turning mineral matter into protoplasm, and make the solar energy work directly for us, right under our supervision.

Potatoes, turnips, wheat, rye, might become forgotten things, as far as human food supply is concerned. Agriculture, first and most ancient of arts, would give place to laboratory operations.

"Agriculture," says Dr. Carl L. Alsberg, "is very inefficient when measured in terms of the proportion of the solar radiation streaming upon the crop area that it renders available to man."

And again he says:

"It is by no means hopeless for the chemist to expect ultimately to develop processes for the storage of solar radiation that will be far more efficient than the net result of agriculture.

"It is not necessary for him to imitate the green plant.

"He may even devise a reaction, or a series of reactions, which will use a wide range of light-waves of greatly different lengths, instead of the few types of light-waves used by the green plant. It is not necessary that these reactions should redose carbonic acid and yield sugar or starch.

"The separation of water into hydrogen and oxygen, of salt into sodium and chlorine, or metallic calcium from limestone would possibly do as well. It is only necessary that the reactions store solar energy in a form available for use in effecting endothermic chemical reactions."

Now this is something of immense interest to every thoughtful human being who cares for progress and the future of his race. But its meaning is liable to be overlooked because it is expressed in technical terms. What it says, substantially, in ordinary language, is simply this:

If chemistry, as there is reason to believe it will be able to do, can use the sun's energy to store their energy in the form of substances (endotherms) which give out the same energy (usually in the form of heat) when they are decomposed, then it may be able to take the place of the plant world in furnishing food for man.

For what is food? It is a popular definition to say that it is the "fuel" of the living body, by the "burning" (digestion, assimilation, etc.) of which the body is supplied with energy and repaired and kept alive.

As everything cannot be used for fuel, so everything cannot be used for food. In order to serve as fuel, substances must be in a certain available chemical state, and it is a function of vegetation to produce such substances through absorption of energy from the sunbeams.

The not by any means hopeless ambition of chemistry is to become able to perform this function more effectively than the plants do it, and by the use of a wider range of solar radiation than they employ.

ONCE-OVERS

SELF-CONFIDENCE IS THE KEYNOTE OF SUCCESS IN ANY NEW JOB

You are contemplating leaving a good steady job to take up another line of work. This new undertaking will bring attractive returns, if you win out.

You like your present work; but you are not sure whether you will like the new job.

It is the thought that you must have a larger income that keeps urging you to make the change.

You will not make a success in that untried field unless you are sure of yourself.

Uncertainty for any reason, whatsoever, is bad for your best efforts.

It would be unfortunate to go into a new place and then be so discontented that you would want to get back.

It might not be possible for you to return to your old job.

And so you might be drifting around a long time, looking for a lucrative position.

If you can be enthusiastically interested in something else; if the chances look good for your success and you like it better than the work you have now, then get into it.
